Touchpoint Simplicity for Managing Inspections and Compliance

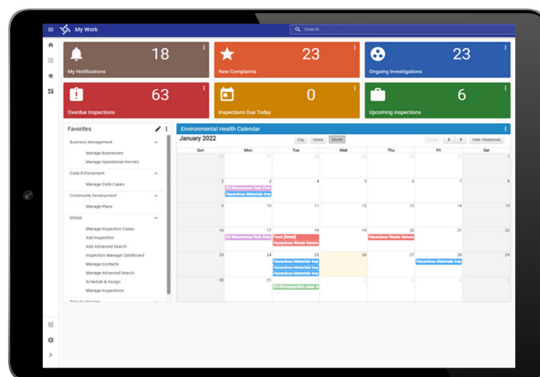

Tyler's Enterprise Environmental Health software helps you better protect the health of your community. This cloud solution is tailored specifically to meet the regulatory needs facing state and local Environmental Health agencies.

Integrated Esri® GIS technology within Enterprise Environmental Health allows you to visually interpret real-time data with spatial analysis, which leads to fact-based decision-making. You can identify trends, performance, and relationships with ease via its robust reporting and customizable, user-role specific dashboards.

Using an enterprise solution breaks down silos, so departments can easily share information. With the technology's intuitive end-user configuration screens, you can create workflows for your unique business processes to ensure that important steps are not missed. Plus, customize inspection forms and scoring to meet local legislations.

Using our customer-facing online portal, customers can apply, manage, pay for, and search for permits and see inspection results.
